RESOLUTIONS OF THE WAR DE-MOCRACY,

Resolved. That we gratefully recognise the infinite goodness which inspired our fathers with patriotism and wisdom, to provision commonsurate with their services, achieve by their arms, the blessings of na tional liberty, and to secure by a constitutional government the enjoyment of those blessings "for themselves and their posterity forever," and, as sons of such aires, we deem it our first and holiest duty, to defend that government and preserve that liberty, by every means which intelligent freemen cau or may exert. Resolved, That a constitutional republican government, established by a free and sovereign people, for the safety and welfare private interest and partisan prejudice wisdom and patriotism is endowed, like the country and hate treason, to unite with us alienable right of self-preservation.

the government, creates him "commander. ligious liberty. in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states when called into the actual service of the United States," and commands him to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed;" without defining the manner in which any of these exalted powersahall be exerted, it becomes his duty, under his responsibilities to Heaven, to the people whom he represents, and to the laws of civilized nations, "to judge," in times of war and of great national peril, "what degree of orce the crisis demands;" and to select, from the known usages of civilized warfare, such measures as he deems most efficacious preserve the government.

Resolved, That the present rebellion was commenced and is pros cuted for the dis memberment of the Natio, ast Union, and the destruction of the constitution and gov ernment of the United States; that in view of the vast armies now arrayed by the rab els for the commission of this national murder, no individual and no party van stand indifferently by, and witness the perpetration of the crime, without becoming a participator in the bloody treason. Resolved, That, as the inherent element of democracy, is the rule of the people, its first principle of action, is a prompt submission to the lawfully expressed will of the majority; that the democratic party, now hading an administration of the general government, constitutionally placed in But, acts directly upon the roots of the Hur, giving the national mountainment required, producing the same o vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth.

power, though without its aid and against its wishes, is bound, upon all questions aftecting the national safety, to yield to it the same cordial and unconditional support which it would have yielded to an admin istration of its own choice.

Resolved. That we recur with undimin shed pride to the past history of the democcasic party-a history interwoven alike with the triumphs of popular liberty, and the defense and glory of the government : of this ever loyal party, in the war of 1812, refused to support the measures of the na tional administration, and burnt blue lights along the coast as beacons to our enemies : and in the Mexican war, factiously withheld supplies from our brave troops in the field, commending them to the "bloody hands and hos atable graves" of the foe; that we have no wish now, amid the bloodtest and most unprovoked war that ever imperilled the government, to imitate these bad examples, and, hy denouncing the measures and motives of the administration, by discouraging enlistments into the army, and decrying its victories, by spreading throughout the loyal states the firebrands of faction, and by giving aid and comfort to traitors in arms, thus to sink the democratic party to the odious level, and fasten upon it the endless shame of in the President, "the executive power" of the government, creates him "commanderin chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the severa states when called into the actual service of the United States," and commands him to "take care that the laws, be faithfully, executed;" without defining the manner in which any of these exalted powers shall be exerted, it becomes his duty under his responsibilities to Heaven, to the people whom ie represents, and to the laws of civilized nations, "to judge," in times of war and of great national peril, "what degree of orce the crisis demands;" and to select, rom the known usages of civilized warfare, such measures at he deems most efficacious preserve the government.

Resolved, That the present rebellion was stand indifferently by, and witness the per- pired mother and fastidious sister and the petration of the crime, without becoming a participator in the bloody treason.

Resolved, That, as the inherent element first principle of action, as a prompt sub-mission to the lawfully expressed will of the majority; that the democratic party, now finding an administration of the general government, constitutionally placed in power, though without its aid and againse its wishes, is bound, upon all questions af-lecting the national safety, to yield to it the same cordial and unconditional aupport which it would have yielded to an administration of its own choice.

Resolved, That we recur with undiminished pride to the past history of the democratic party-a history interwoven alike with the triumphs of popular liberty, and the defense and glory of the government; that we cannot forget that the opponents of this ever loyal party, in the war of 1812, refused to support the measures of the na nonal administration, and burnt blue lights along the coast as beacons to our enemies; and in the Mexican war, factiously withheld supplies from our brave troops in the field, commending them to the "bloody hands and hospitable graves," of the foe; that we have no wish now, amid the blood-iest and most unprovoked war that ever to imitate these bad examples, and, by denouncing the messures and motives of the administration, by discouraging enlistments into the army, and decrying its victories, by spreading throughout the loyal states the firebrands of faction, and by giving aid and Paris correspondent of the New York News comfort to traitors in arms, thus to sink the democratic party to the edious level, gossips a little about the dresses of Eugenie.

Resolved, That this is not the time to heorize upon what will be the "status" of the Rebel states, after they shall again acknowledge their allegiance to the constitu-tion and laws of the Union. The great mission of our army is to defeat the army of the rebellion; this event accomplished, the rebellion must fall to the ground; and when the bow of peace shall again span, our political horizon, stretching its golden arch over every state and territory of the Union, we confide in the magnanimity of the loyal people of America, and in the constitutional tribunals, to assign and se cure to the rebel states their proper posi-

It is a little astonishing to read the raw ings of the Milwaukee News and the Chi cago Times over the death of Peter Bellinger at New Lisbon, when we recollect that these same papers exhibited no sorrow at all at the fate of eighty or ninety people at Lawrence, murdered in the night, in cold blood, by rebel ruffiaus. One at least of these papers, and we believe both of them, justified, excused or palliated the Lawrence massacre. They did not then desire to hold the border counties of Missouri re sponsible for the said of Quantrel, although that band of hum in finds came from within those limits, and marched directly from their midst to their bloody work. Not at all—that was an idea worthy only of fanatthe Milwaukee News wants the people of New Lisbon held responsible for the murder of Bellinger. It is in a hurry for vengence, and can scarcely wait the progress of the law; but it could look upon the eighty murdered people of Lawrence and the smoking ruins of the town with composure. It did not argue expedition then in tracking up Quantrel and his villains, but rather rejuced that Schofield, by a military order, screened them from the righteous retribution which they so richly merited. What is the reason of this difference?—it is because Bellinger was a copperhead, and the people of Lawrence were supposed to be republicans. That is the whole of it.

We call attention to this remarkable manifestation of partiana blindness only for the purpose of reprobating it. We deaire all murderers punished, according to their degree of criminality. If Peter Bel linger was murdered in cold blood, without provocation, let the perpetrators of the deed answer to the extent of the law. It is not necessary that the people of the state should be excited to cut each others' throats over this affair; nor is there any reason for asking, as the News does, whether it is not "time for the people of Wisconsin to know whether their best men are to be clubbed to death in the public streets with impunity." The News may think to make some political capital out of this unfortunate affair, but among the wise and candid, its course, so far as it tends to such a state of things in Wisconsin, will be looked upon with disgust and reprobation.

The statement of the citizens of New Lisbon, which we have published, indicates plainly that there are two sides to the matter of Bellinger's death. It is plain that tion law. If those laws are unconstitutionhe killed a man and wounded others before al, the courts are the proper tribunals to he was harmed. As the News has nothing pass upon them. We must have men to to say about the slaughter of an unarmed fill our armies, and volunteering having soldier, who had taken no part in the affray, been discouraged, there was no other way we are left to suppose that killing a soldier to get them than by conscription. The is considered of little consequence. It is evident that Bellinger threatened the soldiers with a revolver in his hand previously, that he had made himself conspicuous during a whole day by the abuse of all who did not agree with him politically, and that he was especially vindictive towards the soldiers. It is known, too, that he was habitnally violent, passionate and offensive in parading his copperheadism in his usual daily intercourse with the public. Under such circumstances it will be vain for the News to make a martyr of Bellinger, or to gain anything politically by its appeals to the passions of the multitude. The law will take its course, and all good citizens should in this case, as in all others of a like nature, seek rather to allay feeling than to exorte it.

A law was passed at the last session of congress by which all patents were forfeited if the final fees were not paid within six months from the date of the issue. The law has just taken effect, and under it some four hundred patents, which had been granted previous to March 2d, but the fees on which are unpaid, become void. Among them are some really valuable ones.

Mathew H. Carpenter followed in a home talk to his democratic friends, as he always felt in a confidential mood when he addressed the people of Rock county. He traced the analogy between the war of 1812 and the present war with this remarkable difference, (if we may be permitted to perpetrate the bull of a difference in an analogy.) that there was a complete transformation of parties. The republicans of to-day are using to Gen. Mc Chrinand, and at 11 o'clock tre the same arguments in vindication of the government as the democrats then used, while the democrate are now using the ar guments of the federalists without even a decent change of phraseology. The mistake of the federalists then was the desice to keep up their organization, and to do this they must have a live issue, and that issue must relate to the war. So, now, the desire of democrats to get a few paitry offices leads the copperhead portion to keep up their organization, and in doing this they are "switched off" into an opposition to the war. The democratic convention which met at Madison was actuated by two powerful motives-the love of office and the fear of the draft. The leaders of the democratic organisation were herding men by a tear of the draft, which is about as sensible as building a party on a last year's frost or a present thunder storm, and likely to be as permanent. Mr. C. proceeded at some length to vindicate his consistency. He pelieved now all the doctrines he ever ad. which Braze was detected and driven but vocated, and would act again the same under the same circumstances. If, when the country was at peace, he could sustain the constitutional rights of slavery, return fugitives, and put down insurrections, why not, in God's name, can we not now free the slaves to sustain the constitution which alaveernment they have attempted to overthrow. He illustrat d this position by supposing it necessary to fortify Georgetown to protect Washington, but a change of military operations or circumstances might require the to our injury. So, the time had been when it was necessary to defend slavery to pre serve the constitution; now it may be no cessary to destroy slavery to preserve the constitution. George H. Walker then m de an "exbortation" we never heard excelled. It needs a view of the man, his manner, the audience and a sympathy with the spirit which was prevailing in the meeting, to att an adequate conception of it. His allusion to the breadth of the war platform, (any platform, by the way, should be capacious for him alone to stand upon) was inde acribably humorous, and his call upon "copperhead sinners" to come forward, kneel and repeut, was so carne-t that it sounded like the "last call" to reprobates whose day of crace is test ebbug away He closed with the noble sentiment-" Our country, may she ever be right, but right

The New Lisbon Hemicides.

It is a little astonishing to read the ravings of the Milwaukee News and the Chi cago Times over the death of Peter Bellinger at New Lisbon, when we recollect that these same papers exhibited no sorrow at all at the fate of eighty or ninety poople at Lawrence, murdered in the night, in cold blood, by rebel ruffiaus. One at least of these papers, and we believe both of them, justified, excused or palliated the Lawrence massacre. They did not then desire to hold the border counties of Missouri re sponsible for the raid of Quantrel, although that band of hum in fiends came from within those limits, and marched directly from their midst to their bloody work. Not at all-that was an idea worthy only of fanatical Jim Lane; but now, we perceive, that the Milwaukee News wants the people of New Lisbon held responsible for the murder of Belliuger. It is in a hurry for vengence, and can scarcely wait the progress of the law; but it could look apon the eighty murdered people of Lawrence and the smoking ruins of the town with com posure. It did not urge expedition then in tracking up Quantrel and his villains, but order, acreened them from the righteon retribution which they so richly merited-What is the reason of this difference ?-it is because Bellinger was a copperhead, and the people of Lawrence were supposed to be republicans. That is the whole of it.

We call attention to this remarkable manifestation of partisan blindness only for the purpose of reprobating it. We desire all marderers punished, according to their degree of criminality. If Peter Bellinger was murdered in cold blood, without provocation, let the perpetrators of the deed answer to the extent of the law. It is not necessary that the people of the state should be excited to cut each others' throats over this affair: nor is there any reason for asking, as the News does, whether it is not -4 time for the people of Wisconsin to know whether their best men are to be clubbed to death in the public streets with impunity." The News may think to make some political capital out of this unfortunate affair, but among the wise and candid, its course, so far as it tends to such a state of things in Wisconsin, will be looked upon with disgust and reprobation.

The statement of the citizens of New Lisbon, which we have published, indicates plainly that there are two sides to the matter of Bellinger's death. It is plain that he killed a man and wounded others before he was harmed. As the News has nothing to say about the slaughter of an unarmed soldier, who had taken no part in the affray. we are left to suppose that killing a soldier is considered of little consequence. It is evident that Bellinger threatened the soldiers with a revolver in his hand previously, that he had made himself conspicuous during a whole day by the abuse of all who did not agree with him politically, and that he was especially vindictive towards the soldiers. It is known, too, that he was habitnally violent, passionate and offensive its parading his copperheadism in his usual daily intercourse with the public. Under such circumstances it will be vain for the News to make a martyr of Bellinger, or to gain anything politically by its appeals to the passions of the multitude. The lawwill take its course, and all good citizens should in this case, as in all others of a like nature, seek rather to allay feeling than to excite it.

A law was passed at the last session of congress by which all patents were forfeited if the final fees were not paid within six months from the date of the issue. The law has just taken effect, and under it some tour hundred patents, which had been granted previous to March 2d, but the fees on which are unpaid, become void. Among them are some really valuable once.

DEAFT COMMISSIONES.—Hon. L. B. Cas-

Meeting of the War Democracy, his opinion that it was reducing to practice in the south the abolition doctrine of state rights in Wisconsin. If he was to seek for its causes, he should find them in the guilty fanatics of the north, as well as the rebels in the south. Still, he regarded the rebel lion as wholly unjustifiable, and aggressive on the part of the south; and the war on the part of the north was wholly just and defensive. He defended the government in the use of the means it had adopted in the existing war. If a person is assaulted, he is entitled to the right to defend himself; and so, if the government is strack-ed, it has all the rights of self-defence. The south must abide the result of the war it has provoked. If the south proposed to interpose their slaves between the north and the end of the rebellion, he proposed not to dodge them, go around them or under them, but through them. In the course of his remarks he alluded to Pierce, the Woods, Vallandigham, and others abroad and at home, as traitors or in sympathy with traitors. He was called upon by some one in the audience to name those "at home" whom he characterized as traitors or in sympathy with traitors, to which he replied he had no time to stop, and passed on with his remarks. Referring to the Ryan address, with some portions of which he agreed, he asserted that the objectionable sentiments of that address had been gain the north. As a mere party argument, be would find no fault with it in a time of merely partisan feeling. The action of the partisan. Its resolutions and labora had been for peace, without the conditions necessary for an honorable peace. He read a resolution of the Massachusetts democratic state convention, and asserted that the same spirit could be found either avowed or covered up in the proceedings of demo cratic conventions in other states. He regarded the idea of such a peace as utterly futile, and any such proposition as wholly disloyal. It is in vais to talk of peace while the rebels have an army in the field, and noth ing but force could procure a peace. The entire strength of the southern confederacy was in its army. It had no credit, and no the time would come when the olive branch of peace could be properly extended, but that time could not come until Charleston Potomac conquered. Alluding to the right to take their slaves as their ships.

Passing from this topic, he referred to the objections to the prosecution of the war-

It is said that the war is now prosecut-d solely for the abolition of slavery. Who had a right to may so? President Lincoln who knows as much about the matter as Satterlee Clark, has said in his droll way, that it will be time to consider the question of slavery when the rebellion is ended. It EVENING SESSION. The President introduced Gen. John A. McClernand, of Illinois, who addressed the convention nearly an hour. He opened by an allusion to the position of the democracy of Illinois, who, preferring to support men of their own views and opinions, yet sustain those who most nearly approach them. Differing in most vital points with portion of the democratic party, the war democracy cannot operate with them. Re" ferring to the difference of apinion which and arisen between democrats, and the vindictive feeling entertained towards those who dissented from the views of the assumed leaders of the party, he stated that carcely a week passed without his receivng anonymous threatening letters. His only offence was sustaining the old flag gainst the efforts of traitors. Yet the democratic party in congress, at the commencement of the rebellion, had voted for one of the strongest resolutions which language could make, drawn by himself, pledge ing ground among the democratic party of ing the government to a full support of the war. Drawing a comparison between the war of 1812 and the present rebellion, he peace, but the complaint he now made of lasked if the country was justified in pushit was that it had fed and strengthened a ling the war of non intervention and embargo to a war of blows, how much more are we democratic party had become thoroughly justified in pushing to a successful termi nation a war for the defeat of traitors in arms against the government. The mass of the democratic party is loyal now, as they ever have been, but they are misled ny demagognes who are seeking the spoils of office. These demagogues are opposed to an army of soldiers, but in favor of an rmy of office-seekers. Vallandigham is he leader of the bogus democracy .--This democracy asserts that the war has been perverted to the abolition of alayery, the destruction of property, the violation of the rights of person and the destruction of the treedom of the press. Reprobating bis view of the war, and condeming the national standing, and when its army is men who urge it, he passed to comment on the design of France in the invasion of defeated the rebellion is ented. He hoped Mexico, which is the establishment of Mexico and the southern confederacy as depen dencies of the French Empire, and discussand Mobile is taken and the army of the ed at some length the effects of a successful struggle by the south for the control of claim of "the rights" of the south, he did the valley and mouth of the Mississippi. not know what they were; if it was pecu- Separation there would lead to separation rather rejeized that Schofield, by a military liarly the right to hold slaves, they had for- from the Ecastern States, and then the Northwest would become isolated, and her tons degenerate from the proud position of individual leaders to the character of mere. nerdsmen for their spoilers. The loyal men of Wisconsin and the Northwest have a reat work before them, not only to co-oprate for the preservation of the country. out to rescue the democratic party from the abyss of infamy in which it is sought to be olunged. Appealing to his democratic asociates, he asked what is the obligation of the democratic party to sustain Jeff. Davis? Did he not betray Cass and stab Douglas brought all the consequences upon them-Here somebody asked what Ben. Butler had done, and persisting in his inquiry, was forced from the hall. The southern question of the status of the seceded states, politicians had almost unlimited away in Buchanan's administration. To satisfy hem, the democratic party had given them platform of non-interference with alavery. Yet they secoded from the Charleston and Baltimore conventions, because they could had once been plump out, but she was not nominate a man fully pledged to slave ry. They were traitors first to their party see, Louisians, or any other state wanted to get back, some manner would be devised and last to their country. He appealed to for them. He condemned the democratic the men who had sustained Jackson and Donglas to say why they should party for its hostility to the confiscation longer train in such company. Jackon had warned the country that the ticularly charged a "grievous wrong" upon cullification of Calhoun would again break that party for its opposition to the conscription law. If those laws are unconstitutionout in greater strength, and that slavery would then be the inciting cause. What al, the courts are the proper tribunals to pass upon them. If a morthern man was gress to the territory of Collifornia, refus. arriving at Brest, that French workmen until he is victorious. Every western man has the feeling of a leader, as if he was individually responsible for the result. Reenring to the present condition of the war. Gen. McC. said since the south has appealed to the sword, let the sword decide the issue. Compromise with slavers has gone torayer. If the seceded states come back, they must come back unconditionally. He had said that he would act independently of the interests of slavery; but he would go farther and now say that he would act independently of states. The interests of the country in reference to foreign nations required this. If pupilage, if a territorial condition, was necessary, let pupilage come. We want a peace that needs no after patching up. He did not want to take back states to revolt again in a year. He wented a peace that would be as eternal as human affairs would admit. The time for compromises had gone by. The Crittenden compromise would have been as ineffectual as the Missouri compromise. The republicans were against it because it conficted with their ideas of the nature of slavery; the democrats were against it because it was opposed to their doctrine of popular sovereignty, -while the fire-enters of the north were opposed to it because it thwarted their designs of disunion, and did not recognize the nationality and sauctity of alayery. The only compromise is the constitution, and the men who cry for an amendment of the constitution to take the rebels back want to take the constitution on their knee like a cobbler and cobble it and in what we have reported, we have aimed at the spirit rather than a literal and full report, of his remarks. At the conolusion he was greeted with three hearty Mathew H. Carpenter followed in a home talk to his democratic friends, as he always felt in a confidential mood when he addressed the people of Rock county. He traced the analogy between the war of 1812 and the present war with this remarkable difference, (if we may be permitted to perpetrate the bull of a difference in an analogy.) that there was a complete transformation of parties. The republicans of to-day are using the same arguments in vindication of the government as the democrats then used, while the democrate are now using the arguments of the federalists without even a decent change of phraseology. The mis take of the federalists then was the desire to keep up their organization, and to do this they must have a live issue, and that issue must relate to the war. So, now, the desire of democrats to get a few paltry offices leads the copperhead portion to keep up their organization, and in doing this they are "awitched off" into an opposition to the war. The democratic convention which met at Madison was actuated by two powerful motives - the love of office and the fear of the draft. The leaders of the democratic organization were herding men by a fear of the draft, which is about as sensible as building a party on a last year's frost or a present thunder storm, and likely to be as permanent. Mr. C. proceeded at some length to vindicate his consistency. He to the effect that after two days fixbring, in celieved now all the doctrines be ever ad which Bragg was defeated and driven back. der the same circumstances. If, when the country was at peace, he could anstein the Ail of Johnston's cavalry, it was reported, constitutional rights of slavery, return fur had joined Bragg with the design of degitives, and putdown insurrections, why not, stroying Rosecrans' communication. in God's name, can we not now free the slaves to sustain the constitution which slaveholders have assailed, and preserve the 20vernment they have attempted to overthrow. He illustrat d this position by supposing it necessary to fortify Georgetown to protect Washington, but a change of military operations or circumstances might require the destruction of those fortifications to prevent the rebels from occupying and using them to our injury. So, the time had been when it was necessary to defend slavery to preserve the constitution; now it may be ne. cessary to destroy slavery to preserve the constitution. He defended the proclams. tion as a war measure necessary to cripple the rebels and strengthen the Union cause; operative, in his opinion, only so far as it could be enforced by the arms of the federal army or the escape of the elaves inside our military lines. In the course of his remarks, he congratulated the war democracy on the success of their inaugurative movement, and alter referring to some particular individuals, placed his hands on portant change has taken place in Europethe head of George H. Walker, of Milwaukee, who sat in front of him, exclaiming, "Here is one of our boys; who shall say sition of European dictator is at an end, our party is not large and respectable? This unexpected illustration, and the amazement of the recipient of his compliment, who is a man of Falstaffian proportions, and always sustained the southern doctrine and of the highest probity and personal character, on the downhill side of fifty alam, and while England declared she ry stood in the way of a restoration of the years, "brought down the house" with a roar of laughter. He repaid the service of tion against him. About the same time E. G. Ryan in reading the Milwankee News out of the party by a tribute to the person- that Mr. C. M. Clay was maturing an alli gainst it, is a dead tree. The sword had zirdled it, and the fire scorched its root and al good qualities of Sat Clark, "the best abused copperhead in the state," whose outlead tree without the proclamation than spoken expression of his bad sentiments had Napoleon's eyes that bugoest of his family, excluded him from the democratic state with it, but that was a matter of op nice. ticket, because it was not policy to nomi and he would not discuss it. Old issues nad passed away, and new issues were nate so bold a representative of its princi--merging from the war which will originate ples. In the course of his delineation of

Mr. I. P. Walker was called out, and ad-beaten one day, he would fight the next, or ing to hear bim defend himself in a state convention, and groaning him out of its enclosure.

Judge Hubbell, of Milwankee, was then called out, and prefaced an helf hour's talk with the declaration that he came first. foremost and last to signalise his determination to stand by the constry. He commented upon the fact that the democratic party of the north had atrayed itself against the government, and treated the several questions of the war in the same spirit which. characterised the remarks of preceding speakers. He male a strong and eloquent appeal to stand by the army we had sent into the field under the most sucred promises to encourage and support it in its toilsome and dangerous duties.

George H. Walker then made an "exhortation" we never heard excelled. It needs a view of the man, his manner, the audience and a sympathy, with the spirit which was prevailing in the merting, to get an adequate conception of it. His allusion to the breadth of the war pistform, (sur platform, by the way, should be capacious for him alone to stand upon.) was indescribably humorous, and his call upon 'copperhead sinners" to come forward. kneel and repeat, was so carnest that it sounded like the "last call" to reprobates whose day of grace is tast ebbing away. He closed with the noble sentiment-"Our country, may she ever be right, but right or wrong, our country."

The following State Executive Commit tee was then announced by the President of the convention:

Levi Blossom, Milwauken County, Eurene S Turner, Oznakee County. Charles D. Robinson, Brown County, Levi Hubbell, Milwaukee County, Martin Daniels. Eau Claire County. A. Hyatt Sm th, Rock County, A. P. Bakeslee, La Crosse County. George C. Northrup, Racine County, H. S. Winsor, Walworth County, W. D. Powell, Winnebago County, Allen Worden, La Fayette County, Ed. Decker, Kewannee County, John Taylor, Dodge County.

A motion was made and adopted to pub lish the proceedings of the convention in pamphier form. Votes of thanks were carried to the President of the convention and to Gen. Mc Cierosud, and mill o'clock the convention adjourned sine lis.

A WARNING TO FAULT THIEVES .- Sev eral boys were, yesterday, sentenced to serve a term in the county jail for the crime of stealing fruit. We are glad to see that this crime is receiving its due punishment. Fruit is just as much property as anything a man raises, and to steal it is just as much a crime as to steal money or anything else. A great many parents wink at the theft of fruit by their children, who would be horrified at their stealing anything else, and for the sake of creating a correct opinion on this matter, we hope every theft of fruit will be punished to the extent of the law .- Wisconsin.

Johnson, not enamored of the beauties of prison life in Jeffdom, replied " I'il see you damned first," accompanying the words with the discharge of one barrel of his six shooter. This caused Mr. Rebel to rolingingh his hold suddenly and quietly settle down in his boots. Wheeling his horae around immediately, Johnson discharged the remaining five parrels in rapid succession at Massa Jeff's imps, who, in ceture, fired one volley at him, without inflicting any more serious d image than kill ing his horse. He then rushed through the party, knocking down with his revolver a couple of the chivalry who attempted to impede his progress. He succeeded in PRODEEDINGS OF THE CONVENTION .- Our time has been so much occupied to day in writing out the proceedings of the convention yesterday, and so much room is occupied with them, that we have no opportunity-to speak otherwise about them. Tomorrow we shall commence the publication of the address, and make some comments mpon the convention.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS .- A brokeman, on. the Milwankee and Prairie du. Chien railway, fell between the cars, last night, near Stonghton, and fourteen cars passed over his body, killing him instantly.

A man walking on the track between Madison and McFarland, was run, over by the cars, this forencon, and killed. The usual alarm was given, but as no need was given, it is supposed the unfortunate man was deaf. He was a stranger. The body was loft at McFarland.

AN EXCELLENT NOMINATION. Hon. C. O. Sholes has been nominated for the assembly by the republicans of Kenosha ... county. He has served one term as speaker of the assembly, and made an excellent extent of the law .- Wisconsin. "presiding officer. "

THE MONROE SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCUN-SION -- Remember the excursion from Montoe to morrow. All the Sabbath schoo's friends from Monroe at the Blind Institute Grove, bringing with them their baskets well filled.

[Special Notice.] CHIROTODY. - What is more troublesome than corns, bunlons, ingrowing pails, and the various affi ctions which incumber the feet, and what a ble-sing to have them effeetually cured, and that, too, without pain. Dr. Saunders accomplishes all this, and can assure his patients that these : flictions will not reappear, unless the original causes are applied. In another column will be seen a metimonial from Dr. Trest, Dr. Adams, Dr. Lewis, and Dr. Robins n.

GRAND EXCUSSION FROM MONROE TO JANESVILLE. - The Sabbath Subools of Monroe expect to visit Janesville on Satur day next. The place selected to meet them for short speeches and a basket dinner is 70 lbs. the grove near the B ind fustitute. All the Sabbah School children of the city, with our ciuzens generally, are invited to must in the grove at II o'clock, each one to bring in with them their basket of refreshments. The Monroe excursion train will land on the other side of the river at a quarter before 12 o'clock. Swings and other amusements will be provided for the children. This is one of the most beautiful groves and pleasant situations in the vicinity of Janeaville, and well adapted to picnics. We have no doubt our citizens generally will interest themselves warmly to make this visit p'easant to our friends from Monr Bourke's battery of the Lat Illinois light settillery, had been stationed temporarily at MoorBaid, Va., on the later last. A squad of eight mon belonging to the battery wes derailed to go two or three miles into the country for a load of bay. Among the number selected for the purpose was Homer Johnson, of Memobia. Beaux sergeaut, be had charge of the squad. Having secured a load they were quietly returning to each when they were suddenly confronted by 25 cut-threats, belonging to Imboden's guerrillas, who had been concealed in a cornrander.

field. One of the party grabbed the bridle of Johnson's horse and ordered him to surrender. Johnson, not enamored of the beauties of prison life in Jeffdom, replied I'il see you damned first," accompanying the words with the discharge of one barrel of his six shooter. This caused Mr. Rebel. to relingiush his hold suddenly and quietly settle down to his boots. Vheeling his borse around immediately, Johnson discharged the remaining five parrels in rapid succession at Massa Jeff's imps, who, in return, fired one volley at him, without indicting any more serious damage than kill ing his horse. He then rushed through the party, knocking down with his revolver. a couple of the chivalry who attempted to impede his progress. He succeeded in reaching camp ic safety. His comrades were all taken prisoners:

A WARNING TO FRUIT THIEVES .- Sev eral-boys were, yesterday, sentenced to serve a term in the county jail for the crime of stealing fruit. We are glad to see that this crime is receiving its due punish ment. Fruit is just as much property as soything a man raises, and to steal it is just as much a crime as to steal money or anything else. A great many parents with at the theft of fruit by their children, who would be horrified at their stealing anythoug else, and for the sake of creating a correct opinion on this matter, we hope every theft of fruit will be punished to the

We have made the above Reduction in Prices wittthe two-fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves.

The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the irron casting to the smallest plees, is of poor quality.

Their, makers have not the means to de their work well.

They are hid away, in search places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper merchanical appliances. It is only by doing a great busicues, and having extensive manufacturing establish ments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to, get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are cortainty of correct action at altracts of speed, implicitly of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the bett metal and finish.

contraction, great department and request of operators, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and fraished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as store rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made, by, us, will earn, work morely with less labor than any others, whether inimitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper shan any other machines as a gift.
